THE LAKEVIEW STAR

Pride Of The Valley

SIDE LOOKS AT LAKEVIEW

(By H. D. C.)

I heard the bells on Christmas day
Their old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet the words repeat
Of peace on earth, good will to men.

What is there about carolling that moves us with the joyful feeling of Christmas? Is it the cheery friendliness of the carollers, or the words and melodies that are waited out through the stillness of the night? This much is certain, carolling is fun.

The Harmonium chorus found that out anew Sunday evening. Mrs.
Aaron Larson furnished the truck to take twenty-four women roaming and singing through the community. And incidentally, there was no lack of interest in the progressive dinner that was enjoyed along the way. The group met at the Lakeside Community Church for appetizers and a warming spicy tea and youth took the usual lead; for, confidentially, the youngest gal there had not only seconds but thirds.

The first stop was at the Nativity scene where Wanda Howard led the chorus in a group of Christmas carols, Nancy Storm, their favorite accompanist, was at the small organ.

When they started out Los Coches Road the sound of the truck couldn't have been heard except between carols. By the time scarfs had been borrowed and tied over cold ears, the blankets tucked in comfortably, the truck pulled up at Mrs. McIntyre's.
That's where the chicken noodle soup,
and the ducky puns come in. From Glenview the Carolers wound their way to Larson's new home in Winter-gardens. You should have seen the salads that were eaten with zest (and gobs of real whipped cream.) This was the night for hearing everything, for the pianist sang all evening and the chorus leader at this point gave a rip-roaring piano recital.

Off they whisked again, singing all the way to Mrs. Dorsett's. Spaghetti and tasty cheese bread brought looks of satisfaction to all the faces. And was it good!

Away they went again to Lakeside streets and Lakeside Farms. Pumpkin pie and coffee at Mrs. Damon's evening the last of the evenings carols and Mr. Damon, who was waiting with refreshments and a little conversation for the truck driver; was in for a surprise.

Everyone had fun and felt especially grateful to the kind lady who added
the box of Baby Ruth's to the evening's menu.

Pat Desmond, who added a good bit of the evenings fun and music, went home hoarse but happy. Her only regret seemed to be that she couldn't have played the accordion with her mittens on.

A very happy holiday season to all.

One Woman USO

Fabulous Evalyn Walsh McLean,
shown above, swept aside U. S.
Army red tape when she decided to bring bedside entertainment to bedridden war veterans in the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., according to an article in the November issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. Accompanied by a threepiece band and servants bearing plenty of beer, candy and cookies, Mrs. McLean, for the last three years has been entertaining the veterans on a lavish scale. One of the many features of her visits to the veterans is the careless handling of the famous Hope diamond and other jewels which she tosses to the veterans on her arrival. As she leaves the jewelry is returned to her. Hope diamond, for which Mrs. McLean refused $1,000,000, is shown in center
as a hair ornament.

Thousands See Lakeside's Nativity Scene On Main Street

Birthplace Of Christ Is Brilliantly Portrayed

Hundreds of visitors coming from all over the county are being attracted each evening to the Nativity Scene at Lakeside. Nine life-size figures in a rustic log shelter, depict the world's greatest birth story.
In the scene the three wise men pay homage to the newborn king, as he lay in the manger.

The local girl scouts entertained at the scene with carols on Monday. On Dec. 20th the Lakeside Grammar School was entertained at the scene by the Harmonium club. On Sunday evening the St. Francis Choir from St. Mary's church of El Cajon gave a one-hour program with the Rev. Philip D. Lascelles reading the scripture. Several more notable gatherings at the scene are expected
during the ensuing week.

Lakesiders that promoted this magnificent display are still receiving countless bouquets of thanks from everyone for their untiring efforts expended to make this scene so realistic and attractive.

The Max Moores journeyed to Fresno, Calif., to spend Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rimmer, daughter, Shirley remained for a few days visit and will return next Tuesday. Mrs. Rimmer is Mrs. Moore's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prindle had a family get-together with all their children home to help celebrate the day.

The Ottis Barker home was the scene of another family celebration, the group consisted of Mrs. Barker's mother, Mrs. Lantz of Santa Anna, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Lantz and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee White and son, LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Barker and daughter, Bob and Billy Barker and the host and hostess.

The Joe Head family are very happy because their son, Earnest,
who is a patient at the Valley Forge Gen. hospital is home on a month's furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Conrad and Jerry went to El Cajon as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J.
H. Johnston. Other guests were
Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moore. Mr.
Moore is a brother of Mrs.
Johnston and Mrs. Conrad.

Personal

W. A. Katzenbach and family
Henry F. Katzenbach and Gladys Waters, drove to Mesa Grande to spend Xmas with the Vernon Morris's. Mrs. Morris is the daughter of Mr. Katzenbach and niece of Miss Waters.

F. L. Lake and wife had a family get together Xmas. Their guests were Hugo Clapp, wife and daughter, Linda the Steve Philbrook's and little son. Mrs. Clapp is F. L. Lake's daughter and Mrs. Philbrook is the daughter of Mrs. Lake.

Dr. Carlile and wife, entertained Captain Hamas and wife of San Diego at a Xmas breakfast, in their home, in Lakeside. Later the family enjoyed Xmas dinner together.

Ronnie, little son of the John Bird-well's, suffered first degree burns about the face this week. He was treated by Dr. Morris and he is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vanoni of El
Monte park, had as dinner guests,
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vanoni, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Logan, Sr., of San Diego, and Jackie Dillon, with Richard Clevenger arriving later in the evening. As a surprise for the entire group,
Frank Logan, Jr., of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., called by telephone and each member of the party had the pleasure of exchanging greetings over the wire. Frank is an instructor at the Radar school at the Fort. Then to round out the day, Mrs. Mary Vanoni and Mr. and Mrs. Logan drove to Lemon Grove to visit Mrs. Van-oni's sister, Mrs. Joe Fontana.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Miller were hosts to a group of friends including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed and son of National City and Ernest, Evelyn Cunningham of Encanto.

Mrs. Fay Clevenger, Richard
and Clair Clevenger and Mr.
Mrs. Donald Clevenger had an evening Xmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R.
Bowden in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rutt and sons Keith and Ronald, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Singleton of Lemon Grove.

Frank Newbury, of Safford, Ariz., is visiting his son, Mr.
and Mrs. Cliff V. Newbury at Bostonia during the holidays.

Sunday School Group Visits Edgemoor Farms

Sister Hope Gorospe of Lakeside, accompanied by her Sunday School group and Mrs.
Evelyn Hemperly with her accordian, paid an interesting visit to Edgemoor Farms Sunday afternoon, where they sang several Christmas carols.

Sister Gorospe gave a message of hope and cheer to the men's ward and to the men's and women's psycho wards.
The scripture read was from St. Matthews, Chapter 1-21.
The women joined in the singing of Silent Night and The Old Rugged Cross. Several young ladies of the party distributed oranges and cookies to the men and women.

For the past two years Sister
Hope has made frequent visits to the Edgemoor Farm and her work is well appreciated. She has had her religious training at the Four Square College in Los Angeles.

The El Capitan Riding Club
went on a lengthy hike Sunday
to Featherstone, near Barona.
About 12 riders made the trip.
To join this worthwhile club, a rider must first prove his ability.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan spent Xmas with Mrs. Boyd's brother and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Ned A. Bowker, of San Diego.

Mrs. Bessie Mallory and her daughter, Doris Bowden were hostesses at a dinner in Mrs. Mallory's home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wade, of Escondido, and daughter Carmen and Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Lund and daughter Sandra of Imperial Beach. Carmen is home for the holidays, from Berkley, where she is attending the University.

Mrs. Alice Gibson, of Lakeside Farms had Xmas dinner for a group of relatives and friends, including Mrs. S. R. Allen, Mr. J. N. Katzenbach, Mrs. Mabel Henderson, Mrs.
Mary E. Campbell, all of Lakeside and two servicemen of San Diego.

Mrs. Lucy McKay had as guests, for Xmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McKay and children, Janet James of El Cajon, Mrs. Mary Ellen Pitmen,
Mr. Ross Harmon, of Escondido, and Navy Lt. and Mrs. O. T. Bucklew and daughters Audrey and Cheryl of Ocean Beach.

Rainfall Arrives On Christmas Night

Rain began falling over the valley
Wednesday night, bringing moisture to this section, that has been needed for several months. Coming in the midst of the Holiday season, as usual, the rain will be greatly appreciated by local farmers and ranchers. Little, if any sunshine was evident on Xmas day, and the forecast was to the effect that moisture for the valley was going to be one of Old St. Nicholas' gift to this area. Rains are expected to occur intermittently for the next several days.

Announce Engagement Of Their Two Daughters

The social spotlight turned its ray of light this week on the home of Mr.
and Mrs. W. H. Daniels, of Lakeside, when they publicly announced the coming marriage of their two daughters, Louisa Maria and Colleen. Both weddings are scheduled for early spring. Colleen is to become the bride of Lloyd Norman Jain, of National City. Louisa is to wed William James Daze, Jr., a Loyola university graduate. Both girls formerly attended San Diego state college.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gander and daughters Patsy, Marilyn spent Xmas day in San Diego
at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
H. Christensen and family.
Mr. Christensen is Mrs. Gan-der's brother. Patsy, who is home for a few days from Pasadena where she is attending college, will return to the northern city Sunday.

The Geo. W. Gibson chicken and turkey ranch on Lakeside Farms was sold last week to Harry McIntyre, of San Diego.
The deal was made through the Osborne Realty Co. Mrs.
Gibson has no definite plans for the future, but hopes to locate in or near Lakeside.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Foster and family left Lakeside Saturday for a holiday visit at Flagstaff, Ariz., with Mrs.
Foster's relatives.

Miss Cecelia Krause, who has been confined to the hospital following an attack of polio for several weeks, returned to Lakeside to spend the holidays with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Ray and family, of Winter Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Thomas, of El Cajon, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mc-Gill, owners of the McGill
Court in Lakeside.

Mrs. Nancy S. Morgan, former Lakeside resident, died at her home in Escondido last week. Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Ora M. Radel, of Escondido, one son, three grandchildren and one great grandchild. The deceased lady had resided in Escondido since the death of her husband, who died here several years ago.

Mrs. Genevieve Kozak of San Diego, is visiting with Mr.
and Mrs. Lyle Hemperly. Mrs.
Kozak is a sister to Mrs. Hemperly.

Miss Anne B. Haigh of San Francisco, sister of Mrs. P. D. Lascelles is a guest for the holidays at the manse.

The Misses Phyllis and Peggy Lascelles are spending the holidays with their parents at the manse.

LAKEVIEW CHEST DRIVE GOES OVER THE QUOTA $115

During this happy Holiday Season, Mr. T. B. Smiley, President of the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce, gladly reports that Lakeside is one of the few areas within San Diego County which has exceeded its expected quota of contributions to the Community Chest annual plea. Although the quota was set at $1000. Lakeside residents and business people have already contributed the sum of $1115.

Mr. Smiley and also C. Rupert Linley, Secretary of the Lakeside group, state that such outstanding success in a period of uncertainty was possible only through the unselfish labor and effort of many friendly Lakeside residents, and they wish to express particular thanks to the following willing workers: Mrs. Hale Whitaker, E. H. Carender, Harvey Huffman, Mrs. Hugo Clapp and all members of Lakeside Troop 58
of the Girl Scouts of America,
Mrs. Stuart Swink, Mrs. E. W.
Gaul, Mrs. George Langworthy
Mrs. Erman Kouns, Mrs. Fred
Morton, Douglas McClain,
Mrs. Winnie Condon, Howard
H. Wright, James K. Sanford,
Mrs. Althea K. Tracy, Mrs.
Earl Fankhanel, Mrs. C. H.
Foster, Mrs. Dorothy Lyons,
Mrs. Cecil Carender, Mrs. Hart
Dunham, Mrs. Ed Walker, together with the whole-hearted cooperation of all Lakeside organizations and many other residents.

The Cross On Mt. Helix

(By Bart Scott)

Copyright Dec. 26, 1946

As I sit here alone looking upward
Towards the blue of the sky
I see a white cross gleaming
On top of Mt. Helix so high.

That cross needs no explaining It's the emblem of He, who did die
On a hill that was called Calvary
For sinners like you and I.

Tho' ages have passed since that moment,
He is enshrined in the hearts of all men,
The redeemed of all ages will greet
Him

When He returns to welcome them in.

No purple robe then shall mock
Him,
No thorns will be placed on His brow,
A world torn by strife and confusion
Is eagerly awaiting Him now.

Ring Out the Old, Ring In the New

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying cloud, the frosty light;
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring, happy bells, across the snow;
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.
Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;

Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times;
Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.

—Lord Tennyson.

Pagans Also Sent New Year's Cards

Here in America the popular and evergrowing custom of exchanging New Year's greeting cards is of fairly recent origin, but actually the New Year's card antedates the more familiar Christmas card by several hundred years.

With Christmas our greatest national holiday, most of us are inclined to think of New Year's as a sort of happy afterthought. The fact is, it is one of the oldest of festivals, dating back to pagan times. In certain countries of Europe where Christmas is observed as a purely religious festival, New Year's takes the form of a real feast day and its celebration is marked by rejoicing and the exchange of gifts and greetings.

The earliest known New Year's "greetings" were medals marked with good wishes which date back to the reign of the Roman Emperor Commodus (180-192). And while New Year's cards long have been a tradition in China, where the technique of printing was invented, the first European New Year's card we have record of is of German origin, dating back to the 1450s. It depicts the Christ Child and a chest overflowing with good wishes. Another card of the same period has a treasure ship as its central design.

Our present-day New Year's cards have an impressive history behind them. With their festive confetti colors and "Baby New Year," "Father Time," bells and balloons, they serve as messages of the good will we feel toward our friends and neighbors, and of our hope for "A Prosperous and Happy New Year!"

New Year Antedates

Birth of Christ

The celebration of New Years on January 1 began in 452 B. C., and therefore, contrary to logical reasoning, had nothing whatsoever to do with the birth of Christ.

After December 25 had been established as the day of nativity, the church made January 1 a religious festival honoring the circumcision of Jesus; the day being thus observed in the church.

THEME FOR TOURNEY OF ROSES . . . "Holidays in Flowers" will be the theme of Pasadena's tournament of roses on New Year's Day, the committee in charge of the event announced, with Pat Keller, four, as "Little Mister 1947." Pat in the traditional scanty garb of the Little New Year, turned the pages of a huge flowerbedecked calendar to point out the many holidays celebrated in this country. Rose bowl game will be the feature of the tournament.

ITALIAN STALLION FOR CALIFORNIA . . . Shown in his stall aboard the SS Highflyer, which brought him from Genoa, Italy, is the famous Italian sire, "Ortelio." The horse is en route to Maj. Richard Hamilton, Vallejo, Calif. Purchase price was $90,000. Ortelio is shown on arrival at New Orleans with James D. Sinnott and Riha Yosef, Bohemian trainer, who traveled across the Atlantic with the valuable sire.

ROCKET-PROPELLED PLANE PROVES SUCCESS . . . Army air forces has announced successful completion of the Bell XS-1, rocket-propelled airplane. Designed to fly at a top speed of 1,700 m.p.h. at an altitude of 80,000 feet, it was intended as a piloted flying research laboratory, sole function of which will be recording of data on the effect of transonic and supersonic speeds on an aircraft. This data will be used in development of faster and safer planes.

NATION'S LONGEST . . . Can you top Atty. J. Wash Adams, 88, Whitesburg, Ky., who has laid claim to the nation's longest mustache. He says each mustachio measures approximately 10 inches.

CLASSROOM ON THE AIR . . . A Denver teacher, Mrs. Ruth Evans, faces the microphone as the public school "classrooms of the air" get under way in Denver.

ATOMIC RAY SUIT . . . Miss Dorothy L. Burns, 20, Bloomfield, N. J., who filed suit in Newark federal court for $200,000, charging exposure to uranium caused seriously impaired health. She is suing a Bloomfield laboratory.

History Has Been Made On New Year's Since Early Ages

While January, Capricornus, the Goat, symbolized the nurse which cared for the young gods of the sun, the first month has furnished many of the important dates in the history of the world, and the first day of the year has been generous in its contributions. The Gregorian month of January is the namesake of Janus, the two-faced Roman god accredited with the ability to look backward and forward simultaneously.

Following is a partial list of important events that took place on New Year's Day:

- 452 B.C.—First New Year's Celebration held.
- 38 B.C.—Era of the Caesars began.
- 1735—Paul Revere born.
- 1752—Betsy Ross born.
- 1776—First Union flag of 13 stripes unfurled by George Washington.
- 1792—Kentucky entered the Union.
- 1801—Union of Great Britain and Ireland.
- 1815—General Jackson repelled the British at New Orleans.
- 1863—Emancipation of Negro slaves proclaimed by President Lincoln.
- 1882—Greece gains independence from Turkey.
- 1898—Five boroughs of New York City incorporated.
- 1901—Commonwealth of Australia formed.
- 1907—U. S. Pure Food law became effective.
- 1912—Republic of China founded.
- 1923—USSR formed.
- 1942—United Nations' declaration signed.

Debate of Solar Years vs. Calendar Years Continues

The earth evolves around the sun in exactly 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds; consequently, Leap Years omitted haphazardly might result in the sun running away from the calendar and too many Leap Years would speed the calendar on ahead of the sun.

The Gregorian calendar, devised and presented to the world in 1582 by Pope Gregory XIII, provides that years divisible by four—exclusive of the years numbering the centuries—shall have 366 days.

Calendar Revised Date Changed New Year's Day

In 1582 the Julian calendar was replaced by the Gregorian in a proclamation issued by Pope Gregory XIII. This established January 1 as New Year's Day. Our present calendar, known as the Gregorian calendar, is based upon Pope Gregory's revision of the Julian calendar and is more nearly in accord with the solar calendar—the error being reduced to only one day in 3,223 years.

Protestant states did not adopt the Gregorian calendar until the 18th century. It was not until the 20th century that Russia and others of the Balkan states decided to do likewise.

Scotch Handsel Monday Day of Gift-Giving

The Monday after New Year's is traditionally the "big day" for Scotch boys and girls; and, in addition to being the Scotch day of gift-giving, it is a day of feasting and gaiety. Families and friends gather to

"Drink a cup of kindness yet
For Auld Lang Syne."

See New Year's First

Hanson island, a little British colony in the Chathams, 414 miles southeast of Wellington, New Zealand, will be the first to greet 1947. It is just east of the international date line, from which all time is reckoned.

Early Scots Used Bible for Fortunes

A glimpse into the future and the fortunes of individuals could be found in the Bible, the early Scots believed. The sacred book was laid upon the table, opened at random and a finger was placed on the printed page. The entire chapter was then read, and the message it held was believed to describe in some way the happiness or misery in store for the person concerned.

Bulgarian Cities
There are few big cities in Bulgaria. Sofia, the capital, had an estimated population in 1942 of little more than 400,000. Plovdiv (Philippopolis) was about 100,000.

Hatching Eggs Hardy
Hatching eggs in laboratory experiments have withstood altitudes of 80,000 feet, but chickens of any age have a tolerance of around 17,000 feet, although no permanent harm will probably result if they are flown as high as 20,000 feet.

Aborigine Medicine
Ipecac, the root of the ipecacuanha shrub, was first used as a medicinal agent by the aborigines of South America. Some of the therapeutic root was brought to Europe, and fell into the hands of one Adrien Helvetius of Paris. Keeping the composition of his remedy secret, Helvetius used ipecac in the treatment of dysentery. His remarkable cures—advertised on sign cards at Parisian street corners—soon attracted the attention of Louis XIV, whose son the Dauphin lay ill with this disease. Helvetius cured the Dauphin and later sold his secret to Louis for the equivalent of $4,000. The ipecac root is still used in medicine today, as an expectorant and diaphoretic, but has been supplanted by other compounds in the treatment of dysentery.

"GEORGIA, the Empire State of the South"

By ED EMERINE

WNU Features.
(Editor's Note: This is another in the "Stories of the States" series.)

"It was the first colony in the Western Hemisphere to forbid slavery, to prohibit rum, to found an orphanage, to allow married women full property rights, to charter a state university, to charter a college for women."

So states a marker at the highest point in Georgia, 4,784 feet above sea level, at Mount Enota, atop Brasstown Bald mountain.

Back of that marker is over 400 years of American history, beginning with the explorations of Hernando De Soto, the gold-seeking adventurer who journeyed through that area in 1540. And, if legend is correct, islands off the coast were regarded in those days as the "golden isles of Gualie." Their winding waterways were favorite haunts of pirates of the Spanish main, and today parties often search for treasure plate and "pieces of eight" cached there by Blackbeard. But the real history of Georgia begins in 1733 with the founding of Savannah.

Refugees Get Charter.

Among the debtors in English prisons were men of high character, splendid education and great ability. In London were benevolent gentlemen, too, who sought to found a home for these unfortunates and a place of refuge for the Salzburgers and other persecuted sects of the continent of Europe. They obtained a charter from George II, king of England, in June, 1732, and selected Gen. James Edward Oglethorpe as governor.

A man of great liberality and marked ability, General Oglethorpe landed at Yamacraw bluff in February, 1733, with 116 emigrants and laid the foundations for Savannah, the first American city to be planned before building.

During the next eight years about 2,500 persons were brought over, two-thirds of them German Protestants. The Wesleys, John and Charles, came in 1736 as young clergymen. George Whitefield arrived in 1740. Thus, from a small beginning, Georgia grew to take its place, 40 years later, with the other 12 colonies in throwing off British domination.

Ravaged by War.

Twice Georgia was ravaged by war. In May, 1775, more than a year before the Declaration of Independence, Col. Joseph Habersham and Commodore Bowen with 30 volunteers seized the powder magazine at Savannah and secured 13,000 pounds of powder, of which Georgia authorities sent 5,000 pounds to the Continental army at Boston. In March, 1776, the Georgians under Colonel McIntosh, aided by Carolinians under Colonel Bull, burned 3 and disabled 6 out of 11 British merchant vessels which were attempting to carry on trade with loyalist planters.

In December, 1778, the British captured Savannah and Augusta fell a few months later. After the fall of Charleston, S. C., in 1780, the British overran all eastern Georgia. It was not until 1781 that Col. Elijah Clarke, with the assistance of Pickens and "Light Horse" Harry Lee, succeeded in retaking Augusta. On July 11, 1782, the British evacuated Savannah and the authority of Georgia was re-established.

Site of Sherman's March.

Georgia seceded from the Union early in 1861 and furnished the Confederate army 94 regiments and 36 battalions. On Georgia soil were fought the battles of Chickamauga, Ringgold, Resaca, New Hope church, Kennesaw mountain, Peach Tree creek, Atlanta, Jonesboro, Allatoona, and the skirmishes that attended Sherman's march through the state. When the war ended the state was ravaged.

But thrift, ambition and pride remained. The people of Georgia began to rebuild—a difficult job, a trying ordeal. But soon after the Civil war ended, Georgia resumed her enterprises in every industrial line, not even waiting for her re-entrance into the Union, which came in 1870.

There never has been any question of patriotism and loyalty among Georgians. During the Spanish-American war, Georgia furnished more volunteers in proportion to population than any other state. The heroism of Georgia's sons in World War I and World War II has written brilliant exploits on history's pages. And in Georgia thousands of soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen were trained for their jobs in every theater of war.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi. From top to bottom its greatest length is 320 miles, and from side to side its greatest distance is some 260 miles.

Leads in Industry.

Georgia stands in the front rank of the southern states in the variety and value of its manufactures and the number of its manufacturing establishments. Its textile mills include cotton and woolen knitting mills and silk mills. Flour and grist mills, clothing factories, furniture factories, brass, steel and iron works, foundries, car shops and other manufacturing plants are some of its heavy industries. Georgia has brick, tile and pottery plants, and its canning factories, creameries and numerous other processing plants utilize the state's raw materials.

Georgia's slash pine is made into paper, trees grown there reaching a growth in 8 to 10 years that would require 40 to 50 years in a higher, colder climate.

Georgia's marble is famous all over the world, and large quantities of granite and knells are found in many localities. Gold deposits are found in four belts in Georgia, and the mining of gold is an old industry there. Brown and red iron ores are found in many places, and copper, graphite, talc, barite, limestone, precious stones, marls, phosphates and many other deposits of minerals and clays are scattered throughout Georgia.

NATIVE GOVERNOR . . . Born March 20, 1907, at Newnan, Ga., Ellis Gibbs Arnall has been an energetic leader of his native state. A former lawyer, he served in the state legislature and as attorney general before taking office as chief executive January 12, 1943.

Agriculture is Varied.

The slopes of Georgia's mountains are well suited for the grazing of livestock, and the state has an abundance of land, either rolling or level, for growing vegetables, fruits, corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, buckwheat, cowpeas, clover, timothy, grasses, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and dozens of other crops. The forest timbers are oak, pine, poplar, ash, beech, elm, chestnut, hickory, maple, walnut, ironwood, sugar berry and a score of others. Large quantities of turpentine are produced.

Georgia's resources are vast. Its climate and rainfall are conducive to all plant life, and pleasant for human beings. The gentle art of living is practiced in Georgia but there remains a deep-rooted determination to keep up the leadership, the progress, that began over two centuries ago when the Oglethorpe band landed at Savannah. Georgia is a state worth seeing, knowing—and watching!

Sitton's Gulch is typical of Georgia's scenic spots.

PAUL CLAIMS THE WORLD FOR CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:15; 19:21; 23:11; 28:28-31; Romans 1:13-16; 15:22-24.
MEMORY SELECTION—I am a debtor both to the Greeks, and to the barbarians; both to the wise, and the unwise.—Romans 1:14.

The gospel is for the whole world. God wants all men to hear and come to repentance (John 3:16; II Pet. 3:9).

For the establishment of the great missionary program with its worldwide sweep, he called a man gifted, prepared and anointed for that work, namely Paul, whose life and ministry have been our interesting portion these three months.

Now we find him at the very center of the then known world to claim it for Christ. Politically, commercially, socially and religiously, Rome was the very heart of the known world which centered around the Mediterranean sea (the name of which means "the middle of the earth").

Having preached almost everywhere else, Paul had a longing to face heathendom at its very center and claim trophies for Christ and the gospel.

Our Scriptures present:

I. God's Plan and Man's Purpose (Acts 9:15; 19:21).

Choice involves the thought of selection because of certain qualities or abilities. The Lord had prepared Paul for just this ministry, and now he chose him to carry it out. That encourages us to believe that God is leading in the experiences of our lives, preparing us for the day when he will call and use us. Let us be yielded and ready.

Our second Scripture (Acts 19:21) tells us that the plan of God was put into operation by the purpose in Paul's heart. God does not have to depend on man to do his work, but he does just that! We may hinder his full use of us if we fail to purpose in our spirit to do his will, as Paul did. God wanted Paul in Rome. That was his plan, and that was the purpose of Paul's heart.

II. God's Confirmation and Man's Determination (Acts 23:11; Rom. 1:13-16; 15:22-24).

Man needs to have his good purposes confirmed by the Lord, and so it was in the case of Paul. He had been taken prisoner for the gospel's sake. His trial had resulted in an uproar. Things did not look too promising for him. Humanly speaking, there was a question whether he would get anywhere, let alone to Rome.

In man's hour of discouragement God stands by with a good word. "Be of good cheer," he tells Paul; "as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem so must thou bear witness also at Rome."

In his letter to the Romans, Paul expresses his determination to come to them. There were hindrances, there was a contemplated trip to Spain (which he probably did not make), but in spite of all these things he would come in due time.

The reason for that determination is tremendously interesting and pertinent to our own lives. He saw himself to be a debtor. The gospel had been committed to him, not as a deposit for his own good or pleasure, but as something he must give out to everyone who had not heard, including Rome.

We, too, who know Christ are in debt to a world which has not heard of him. That includes the cultured, whom we often forget, and the uncultured, the men of every race—everyone who has need of a Saviour.

The tremendous urge which moved Paul should be characteristic of every believer. Think what it would mean for the evangelization of the world if every Christian said: "As much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel" (v. 15).

III. God's Salvation and Man's Declaration (Acts 28:28-31).

A slight change in the arrangement of our Scriptures brings us to our concluding thought. God had sent salvation to the Gentiles and they would hear it (v. 28), even if the preacher had to come as a prisoner, for Paul came thus to Rome.

How wonderfully God arranged it all, for Paul was given the privilege, even as a prisoner, of living for two years under guard in a private house. Here he won his guards to Christ, many members of Caesar's official household (Phil. 4:22), and others who came and went as he preached and taught, "no man forbidding him" (v. 31).

When man declares the gospel of salvation which God has sent, mighty things are wrought for the glory of God and the good of men.

It is just that which we should be about with renewed zeal and diligence during the new year just ahead. We are in debt, and we must discharge our indebtedness by declaring to all that Jesus saves, keeps and satisfies.

Best wishes for a most blessed new year! It may well be the most important year in all history. Let us make use of it for the glory of God.

Keep sewing equipment in order and handy, for quick repairs. Some women speed emergency repair work by having several needles ready threaded with different colors of thread.

Pollination Needed
At least 50 crops grown in this country either depend on the honeybee for pollination or yield more abundantly when the bees are plentiful.

The Sweeping Tides

by H. M. EGBERT

W. N. U. SERVICE

Mark Darrell, young American lumberman, is boss of a lumber camp near St. Victor, Canada. Nat Page is his assistant. Mark has fallen in love with Madame Madeleine Kinross, the young widow who owns the timberland. She returns his affection, but tells him that she believes her husband is still alive, so that there is no hope of marriage. Her lawyer, Horace Broussac, also is a suitor. Broussac has made several cash offers to Mark to get out, the last for $15,000. He tells Mark that he intends to marry Madeleine, to gain her property as well as herself. Mark visits the parish priest to try to learn the truth about Eric Kinross. The priest tells him simply "Madame Kinross is not for you."

CHAPTER VII

The lighthouse had just begun to flash its one-two, one-two of warning through the night when Mark made his way along the natural bridge, and down the steps toward Madeleine's cottage.

He kept a sharp lookout for Andre Galipeault, but the old man was evidently in the lighthouse. And, in the twilight, Mark was knocking at Madeleine's door.

She came out, she stood holding the sides of the door, looking at Mark, her breath coming and going quickly.

"Madeleine!"

He took her hands in his, and still she stood looking at him, unresisting, her gray eyes luminous.

"I've been to see Father Lacombe. I told him that I loved you. I thought it right to do so. I asked him what happened on the ice-floe, and he refused to answer me."

"He will not answer me," said the girl. "They know—but I am not permitted to know what happened to my husband. When I said that he was still alive you thought me crazy. Now you understand."

"But, if he is alive, where is he? Who knows?"

"Those four know—Andre, Hector Mackintosh, Alphonse Vitard, and Father Lacombe. But I must never know. My husband is alive somewhere, I know, and insane as the result of his exposure. He was never quite sane. He would drink until a kind of devil took possession of him, then he would fight a dozen men at a time and beat them. He was the most adored and hated man on the lower St. Lawrence."

"I know he is living, mad, somewhere, and they will not tell me."

"Madeleine, I love you!"

"Ah, what is the use of telling me that? Do you not see my fate? I married the seigneur when I was fifteen because I was forced into it—and also because he fascinated me. I was proud to be chosen wife of the seigneur. And there was never any other woman in his life. He had always loved me. And there was my father's little property. What could I do?"

"Now I know that he is alive, for father Lacombe has told me that I must remain a widow all my days—I, who was married half-an-hour before the fleet sailed, and did not even know what marriage meant."

"Do you see, my friend? Do you see, my dear?" She laid her hand on Mark's face and stroked it gently.

"Then we must not see each other again?"

"We must try not to meet again."

"Then I shall give up my lease," said Mark.

She caught her breath sharply. "Ah, but Horace Broussac? He believes in nothing. He laughs at Father Lacombe. He wants me to marry him in Quebec, come back, defy them all. I am afraid of him. I have thought and thought, and I think that I shall go away. I have a cousin who is a sempstress in Quebec. She will take me in. I cannot bear it any longer."

"We Must Try Not To Meet Again"

She was weeping, weeping desolately in Mark's arms, and he bent and kissed her tear-stained cheek. They stood looking at each other hopelessly.

"Can't you speak to Father Lacombe and find out whether your husband is really alive?" asked Mark.

She shook her head. "He would not answer me," she said.

"Why not?"

"Because it would violate the secrets of the confessional."

"You mean that those three men have told him the truth? If that is the case, old Andre knows."

"Yes, Andre knows, but he has never told me a word. There was a time when I used to plead with him. Now I have learned enough to keep silent."

"I'll make him talk," said Mark grimly.

"No," answered Madeleine.

"There is nothing more to be said. Everything that could possibly be said has been said in the past five years. You must go, Mark, and we must try not to meet again."

"I'll give up the lease," said Mark once more.

For a moment he held her close to him, and their lips met. Then Mark turned away toward the bridge. But not before he had seen Andre Galipeault standing at the lighthouse entrance, a bitter sneer upon his bearded face.

Had he been a witness of that good-by? Mark didn't care, for he realized that he was through. St. Victor had got him down, with its secrecy, its furtiveness, its hugging of its own mysteries to its breast.

But what about Broussac? Mark didn't mind the ignominy of having to go to Broussac and accept his offer. But he had promised to protect Madeleine against the lawyer. Now it seemed that he must abandon even this small dream. Yes, St. Victor had got him down, with its pertinacity, its dogged resolution.

It was fast growing dark as Mark made his way down the slope toward his shack in the little clearing. The one-two flash of the lighthouse was growing clearer. There came the resonant bellow of the foghorn, and, looking back, Mark saw that one of the white mists was creeping up the St. Lawrence. Even as he watched, it blotted out the lighthouse and the rocks, crept upward until the bridge disappeared, began to envelop him with its clammy arms.

Mark hit the trail, groping through the mists toward his cabin. On the morrow he would tell Nat that he had decided to relinquish his lease, write to his backers. At least there would be a small but substantial profit coming to them. That night he would be glad of the solitude of the shack. That night he would fight out his battle alone.

He was almost at the shack when suddenly he saw the bearded face of Andre Galipeault rise out of a clump of bushes. At the same instant he was conscious of a violent blow upon the back of the head. He swung about, with flailing fists, to see two other men, unknown to him, standing over him, with clubs in their hands.

As Mark struck, Andre hit him from behind. The mist-wrapped scene began to swim before Mark's eyes, and he felt his knees begin to buckle. Fighting desperately, he was borne down, and once more a stunning blow dropped upon his temple.

He fell, and everything went out in darkness; consciousness itself became extinct.

Mark Gives Up, and Awaits the End

Mark could not have been out for long. He came to, to find himself lying upon the floor of his cabin, his head aching dully from the blows he had received. He tried to move, and found that he was unable to do more than flex his fingers. For a while he lay still in sheer exhaustion, until a sudden flare of flame showed him that the bush around the cabin was on fire.

He tried to move his limbs again, and now discovered that he was tightly roped, so that all motion was practically impossible. His arms were fastened to his body at the wrists and elbows, his legs bound in a similar way, and he himself was bound to one of the corner uprights of the hut.

The glare was growing brighter. Torrents of smoke came pouring into the cabin. Through the entrance Mark could see a long line of fire running toward the bridge and sweeping in a wide curve about him.

With that he realized his predicament. One day more, and his announced determination to give up the lease would have meant security. Broussac, for some reason driven to this desperate course, had had him tied in the cabin, which would shortly be ablaze.

The ropes with which he was tied would, of course, shrivel into ashes. There would be nothing to show that Mark had not been overcome by the smoke while he was asleep.

He began to struggle desperately in his bonds, without the least result. Try as he might, he could not move a limb. At last he gave up the fight and lay, panting, waiting for the end.

All the woods about the bridge seemed afire. Dense torrents of smoke came pouring into the cabin and rose above the tree-tops. The crackling of the running flames grew louder and spires of fire shot up and vanished in the curling smoke-wreaths.

Mark tried again. He put forth every effort of the muscles of his strong body. Once the ropes seemed to slip, but they grew tight again. And it was growing insufferably hot inside the cabin. The surge of smoke was stifling. Mark gasped as he tried to draw his breath.

They'd think he had been overcome by the smoke while he was asleep and burned to a crisp, and nobody would know that he had already decided to relinquish his lease of the seigniory.

But what about Madeleine?

If the seigneur was really alive, what about Broussac? Mark felt trapped. He was not fighting Father Lacombe, he was fighting all St. Victor, and he had always felt that from the beginning.

Again he fought furiously against his bonds, and again unsuccessfully. The hut was filled with smoke now. Mark drew in great, gasping lungfuls of it, and felt consciousness going out in death.

Nat Page, down at the mill, watched the cloud of smoke slowly thicken through the white mist that had crept in from the Gulf. That mist had blotted out everything. It had made St. Victor a phantom village, obliterating the houses, and the masts of the fishing-schooners that lay off the wharf. The very voices that called to one another from doorway to doorway seemed strange, since their owners were no longer distinguishable.

Alphonse Vitard, the mayor, was closeted with Hector Mackintosh, the landlord, in a back room of the hotel. There were two glasses and a bottle of spirits upon the table between them, and at first sight you might have thought the two men were drunk. It was only after another glance that it became evident that they were not drunk—only shaking with mortal fear.

There was a flinching at the door, and Andre Galipeault, of the lighthouse, staggered in. His face was blanched a deathly white above his gray beard. He dropped into a chair, poured himself out a glass of raw spirits and drained it.

"Eh, well?" asked Alphonse Vitard.

"We have done what we agreed to do. Have we not wives and families? Are not our own lives at stake? Why should we die and our families starve, because an outsider comes into St. Victor to spy?"

"I have sometimes wondered," said Hector Mackintosh, "whether that Monsieur Darrell was really a spy. It may be that he was honest. He certainly was a lumberman."

"What have we to do with that?" shouted Andre. "Who gave us our orders? Monsieur Broussac. Who threatened us with the loss of our lives, or at least, swore that we should never see St. Victor again, unless we did what he told us? Who showed us that cabled dispatch from France?"

Three Men Are Filled With Fear and Horror

"They stared at one another with white, quivering faces."

"Where is the American?" demanded Alphonse Vitard.

"Dead! Dead! A crisp in what is left of the blazing hut," answered Andre. "I tied him and left him there. Ma foi, it was our lives against his, I tell you."

"Hush, don't speak so loud," whispered Hector Mackintosh, glancing apprehensively at the door. "What of Father Lacombe?"

"He shall never know."

"Then we—we are damned," whispered Mackintosh.

"There are other priests to whom to make confession," mumbled Alphonse Vitard. "When one's own life is at stake, and the well-being of one's little ones, one has to fight. Bien, are we sinners because we chose that one man should die in place of all of us?"

"But the seigneur did not die," whispered Hector Mackintosh. "I tell you the whole thing should never have been covered up. We were fools."

"And Horace Broussac was a knave, to keep the money that was raised from the seigneur's lands. I pity Horace when the seigneur gets his hands on him."

"Listen!" Alphonse Vitard grasped him by the shoulder. "Did you see Horace Broussac's yacht steal into the harbor just before the fog shut down? Do you think he is going to stay and face the seigneur? I tell you he is going to get that girl to sail away with him."

"Dieu, no!" shouted old Andre, springing to his feet.

Hector Mackintosh put out a brawny hand and forced him down into his chair again. "Don't be a fool, Andre," he said. "You will ruin everything. Horace is too clever for you and me."

"Aye, but the seigneur, the seigneur! God pity Horace Broussac if the seigneur gets his hands on him!"

Entertain Your Friends at a Buffet

(See recipes below)

Holiday Buffet

The holidays bring with them a spirit of good cheer and friendliness that we want to take advantage of the opportunity to entertain our friends. It's so easy to ask people over to see the tree, or stop in for fruit cake that every homemaker should be prepared to set a table worthy of the spirit of the season.

By being prepared, we mean in the good old-fashioned way, of course, with the pantry stocked full of good things ready to set on the table at a moment's notice, cookie jars brimming full of their gay, sweet snacks, and the refrigerator ready with a baked ham and salad makings.

It's easy to serve buffet style if you have lots of small tables for people to sit down to and eat. Then they can go to the buffet—which by the way can be a buffet or a large table—and serve themselves as often as they like. With food such as I've outlined, you'll be surprised how often they can come back.

Your table should be as pretty as a picture with a white or ivory damask cloth. The centerpiece, too, can carry out the holiday mood. Use Christmas greenery abundantly, and if you have branches from the tree, use them with carnations, some artificial snow balls and possibly a snow man as illustrated above.

Now, here's the way we prepare the food:

*Baked Ham.

Scrub ham thoroughly before cooking. Place on a rack in shallow pan, skin side up. Bake 25 minutes per pound in a slow (300 degrees) oven. Remove ham ½ hour before it is finished baking. Peel off the rind and score fat. Spread with a desired glaze and insert a whole clove in center of each scored section. Return ham to oven for remaining half hour.

Here's a list of coatings and glazed mixtures that may be used for ham.

- 1 cup crushed pineapple mixed with ¾ cup sugar.
- Strained honey mixed with chopped maraschino cherries.
- 1 cup of strained honey mixed with 1 cup cherry juice.
- Juice of 2 oranges mixed with ½ cup pineapple juice, ½ cup sugar and ½ cup white corn syrup.
- Apricot puree which is made by cooking 2 cups of apricots in 2½ cups of water and then rubbing through a sieve. Sweeten with ½ cup corn syrup or sugar.

*Picture Salad Plate.

Place crisp lettuce cups on salad plate. In the center of the plate place a tomato rose, made by cutting tomato into sections and then pulling out "petals" to make a rose. Around the rose, place carrot curls, chilled asparagus tips, and sliced hardcooked eggs. Serve with oil or sour cream dressing.

There are several ways of defrosting quick-frozen birds which have been eviscerated. The bird may be placed in a pan under running water. This will take from ½ to 2 hours.

Another way is to leave the package at room temperature until the bird is pliable. This will take from 2 to 6 hours.

Chickens and turkeys should always be cooked well done. The secret of well prepared birds is slow cooking at temperatures which are from low to moderate.

HOLIDAY BUFFET.

- *Baked Ham with Pineapple Garnish
- Honeyed Sweet Potatoes
- Assorted Bread
- *Salad: Tomatoes, Asparagus, Hard-Cooked Egg, Lettuce
- Relishes: Mustard, Pickles, Olives, Celery
- Assorted Mints
- *Fruit Cake Beverage

*Recipes given.

Tart French Dressing.

(Makes ¾ cup)

- 1½ tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon white pepper
- ½ cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine dry ingredients. Add oil gradually, beating constantly. Add vinegar and lemon juice and beat or shake thoroughly. Chill thoroughly. Omit sugar if more tart dressing is desired.

Sour Cream Dressing.

- 1 cup sour cream
- ¼ cup vinegar or lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Dash of cayenne pepper
- ½ to 1 teaspoon grated onion

Combine all ingredients in order given. Beat until stiff and chill thoroughly. This dressing is especially good for green salads.

If desired, a fruit plate may be made with in-season fruits. Use crisp lettuce cups with sliced red apples, cinnamon pears, grapes left in clusters, and candied fruit for garnish. Or, if a molded salad is preferred, use ground cranberries with a gelatin base and garnish with greens and grapes, orange and lemon slices.

If you're not having one of the mellowed and aged fruit cakes this season, try one of the light kind. These do not have to be aged to be good in flavor, and yet they will give you that holiday cake dessert that everyone likes so well. Serve the cake in thin slices.

*White Fruit Cake.

- ¾ cup butter or substitute
- 1½ cups sifted cake flour
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 6 egg whites, beaten stiff
- 1½ cups powdered sugar
- ¾ cup candied cherries
- ¾ cup candied pineapple
- ½ cup blanched pistachio nuts
- ¾ cup bleached raisins

Cream butter thoroughly, gradually add flour and soda. Sift sugar into beaten egg whites and combine with first mixture. Add lemon juice, fruits and nuts, cut fine and sprinkled with flour. Stir well and bake in a waxed paper-lined buttered pan for 1 hour at 325 degrees. The top may be decorated with candied, glazed fruit, if desired.

Or the cake may be served with a sauce such as hard sauce or a hot plum pudding type of sauce if you want more of a dessert. Serve only small pieces as cake is rich.

Effective Against Stains
Boiling water is one of the simplest and most effective remedies for removing fruit, coffee or tea stains. Hold the kettle high above the fabric and the added force given to the boiling water by pouring from a height of two or three feet drives out stains more effectively. A good point to remember is that fruit stains should be treated immediately. They are very difficult to remove after they have dried.

Storage Hazard
"Mothproof" containers alone do not eliminate the pest hazard. If they're tightly enough sealed, with no cracks, they keep moths from getting in from the outside but they don't prevent any moth larvae already lurking in the clothes from doing their dirty work. Hence the necessity for having the woollens thoroughly cleaned. As an added protection, use a spray or flakes of naphthalene, or paradichlorobenzene, or moth balls—a pound for a small chest, 3 pounds for an average closet. The flakes or balls give off a gas which discourages the larvae from feeding and kills them if the concentration is high enough. As the gas is heavier than air and sinks, the flakes should be put high in the closet and renewed, if necessary.

Italian History
From the early Middle ages, Italy's many separate, self-ruled states were disorganized and dominated in turn by France, Spain and Austria. Gradually during the 19th century, the need for unity was impressed on the people, and in 1859 the absorption of other Italian states by the kingdom of Sardinia began. The victorious march of Garibaldi and his patriots through Sicily and southern Italy in 1860 hastened the proclamation of the modern kingdom of Italy on March 17, 1861. Venetia was added in 1866, Rome in 1870. Joining the Allies in 1915, Italy gained Trentino and Istria in the northeast at Austria's expense by treaties after World War I. Italy's colonial expansion extended to Eritrea, Italian Somaliland, Libya, the Dodecanese Islands, reached a peak with Fascist conquests of Ethiopia and Albania in recent years. Italian possessions cover 1,300,000 square miles—11 times the homeland area.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Top Off Housecleaning
The top of closets and the house doors, tops of window frames, moldings, pictures and mirrors should be as much a part of your cleaning program as the more visible places lower down. A monthly once-over with soap and water will prevent embarrassment and eliminate the strenuous old-fashioned kind of semi-annual housecleaning.

Feed Cost High
From 50 to 75 per cent of the cost of keeping horses is chargeable to feed consumed.

Garment Care
Preparation is what counts in taking care of clothing without spending too much time at the job. To save yourself the job of frequent pressing, use hangers that fit the shoulder line, and arrange garments in closet or garment bag so that they hang straight and will not slip. It also pays to move some of the out-of-season clothing to storage space, to make way for seasonal garments in the closets. Garments neither get aired well, or keep their press when crowded together. In packing for a trip, tissue paper inside the folds of garments helps prevent wrinkles, and a thin cardboard inside a folded garment keeps it from crowding to one side of the suitcase. These precautions help but it is also wise to unpack the clothes as soon as possible after the trip.

Setting Strawberries
In setting out strawberry plants it is important that the bud and crown be entirely above ground and the whole root system is below the surface. If set too high, the roots are exposed and the plant will dry out; if set too low, the bud will be covered with soil and will rot.

Role of Honeybee
The principal role of the honeybee is not in the production of honey and beeswax as is commonly supposed, but in the pollination of agricultural plants.

Preserving Dahlias
Proper digging and storage of dahlia tubers has a great deal to do with their keeping qualities. If they are injured in digging, decay starts in the wound and spreads to the healthy roots. Digging should be done about a week or 10 days after the first killing frost. Before digging cut off the stalks to about two inches above the ground. In removing the tubers there are two precautions that should be remembered. First, be careful not to break the clumps apart and second, don't pull the clumps out by the stems. Store upside down in a dry cellar for about two weeks. At the end of this time cut off all loose and broken roots. Powder the crowns with a fine dusting sulphur and the roots are ready to be stored. The ideal temperature for storage is 40 to 45 degrees.

IN THE RACE OF LIFE

Keep on your toes, with your feet on the ground;
Keep your body erect, and your organs sound;
Keep your head in the air; but not too high;
Keep your brain as clear as a summer sky.
Keep your mouth well shut, and your ears in tone;
Keep your nose out of business that isn't your own;
Keep alert in body and mind as you go;
You may not win, but you'll place or show.
